

Interview

GUIDELINES

All Master's programs at Glion require an interview to assess an applicant's suitability.

These interviews will involve a discussion between you and a member of the Program team for your chosen subject. You will be asked to discuss why you want to study your program and what makes you a strong candidate.

Be prepared

Research the program and the institution: Learn about the program you are applying for, its curriculum, and Glion's mission, vision, and values.

Prepare for common interview questions: Anticipate common questions related to your background, motivation (why Glion? Why this specific program?), and goals. Practice your answers to increase confidence.

Create a positive first impression

Dress appropriately: Wear professional attire that is appropriate for an applicant interview.

Prepare for the virtual interview: Make sure you have a reliable internet connection and a quiet place to participate.

Arrive on time: Join the meeting slightly early to help settle in and calm your nerves.

Be you

Show enthusiasm: Express your interest in the program and Glion and be sure to ask relevant questions about the program.

Be honest: Be transparent about your strengths and weaknesses and what you hope to achieve through the program. Learning is about growing so you are not expected to have all the answers.

Ask your questions

Take full advantage of the opportunity to ask your questions – whether they be about the program curriculum and structure, program delivery mechanisms, facilities, and resources or more about the holistic learning experience you can expect.
